
RE; Cleared Divorce

1 message

ceremonies.ramsgate@kent.gov.uk <ceremonies.ramsgate@kent.gov.uk> 21 August 2023 at 11:04
To: adriansims62781@gmail.com

Dear Adrian and Ivana

I have just had confirmation from the General Register Office that your divorce has been cleared but they need you to be aware of the information below.

Both parties must, however, first be warned that the responsibility for the marriage/civil partnership and its validity in this or any other country rests entirely with them.

They should be told that the Registrar General can give no assurance that the divorce/Civil Partnership dissolution would be recognised as valid by the courts in this country or elsewhere and that if at any time it becomes necessary for the parties to satisfy other United Kingdom authorities as to the legality of the marriage / Civil Partnership which they propose to contract, they may be called upon to satisfy those authorities as to the validity of the divorce.

Regards

Sue Richards | Ceremonies Officer | Libraries, Registration & Archives | Kent County Council |
kent.gov.uk/libraries | akentishceremony.com | kentarchives.org.uk

